

Project name: smart waste management for metropolitan cities

The screenshot shows the Python.org website's download page for Windows. The page features the Python logo, a search bar, and a navigation menu. The main heading is "Download the latest version for Windows", followed by a button to "Download Python 3.11.0". Below this, there are links for other operating systems and development versions. A yellow banner promotes the "Python Developers Survey 2022". At the bottom, there is a table titled "Active Python Releases" with columns for version, maintenance status, first release date, end of support, and release schedule.
